

STURBRIDGE INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION

BROOKE LAVALLEY | BLAVALLEY@COURANT.COM

FIRE! FOR THE FOURTH

MILITIA MEMBERS shoot a round into the air Sunday to commemorate a reading of the Declaration of Independence at Old Sturbridge Village in Sturbridge, Mass. The participants, called "Living Historians," represent different aspects of a typical New England town's population during the early 1800s, portraying everything from the town cobbler to the militia.

